

EDMUND SANDERSON JEFF FARM TRAINING AWARD 2010

Outline:

The Salvation Army own and manage (through a farm board) a substantial holding in the Kaiwera District near Gore, running some 21,000 stock units, comprising of Romney sheep, mixed breeding and finishing cattle and an increasing red deer herd.

This property was bequeathed to The Salvation Army many years ago by the late Mr Jeff with some conditions, the principal clause being that “the farm and farm profits be used for the training of under-privileged youths in farming.”

Other conditions have been complied with and now that the farm is almost completely developed to a high standard, The Salvation Army wishes to honour the modified intentions of the bequest, by offering these awards.

Objectives:

The objectives of these awards are to assist young people in furthering their education in any aspects of farming including agriculture, horticulture, orcharding and animal husbandry, either general or specialised, at a suitable educational institution. The Salvation Army considers Telford Rural Polytechnic and Lincoln University, as being suitable for the purpose.

Criteria:

Applications for assistance will be considered from all young people who want to be trained in and/or further educated in farming. This scholarship is primarily for those who need assistance on account of their financial situation, their existing environment, or their state of health.

Privacy provisions (Privacy Act 1993):

The information requested in this application form will be used solely for the purposes of assessing your application for the award for which you are applying. Personal information contained in this application will only be made available to members of the selection panel for this award. The panel will use references obtained from third parties designated by yourself in assessing your application. The panel undertakes to store your application in a secure place in the event that you are successful in gaining an award, and to destroy your application to preserve its confidentiality in the event that you are unsuccessful in gaining an award.

Personal references from the persons you have named are obtained on the strict understanding that they are confidential and you may not have access to those references without the written authorisation of the author.
